

Angelic Ministry in the Bible ---Understanding God's Heavenly Messengers

The Last Days: A Season of Increased Angelic Activity

Scripture reveals angels as God's heavenly messengers and servants, sent to accomplish His purposes. Jesus spoke of angels participating in the fulfillment of God's end-time purposes, including the gathering of His elect (Matthew 24:31), while Scripture points toward an increase of supernatural signs as God brings His purposes toward fulfillment.

As God pours out His Spirit and manifests His glory, believers need a biblical understanding of angelic ministry. Angels do not replace the work of the Holy Spirit, nor are they objects of worship or pursuit. They are God's servants, operating under His authority and according to His command.

Angelic Ministry in the Bible equips believers to recognize from Scripture how God employs His heavenly messengers in areas such as revival, spiritual conflict, protection, provision, deliverance, and the advancement of His Kingdom purposes.

In an hour marked by dreams, visions, signs, and the expectation of greater manifestations of God's glory, the Church must learn to discern angelic activity with biblical understanding—keeping its attention firmly upon God while recognizing the heavenly assistance He sovereignly provides.
